Buildings Will Be On Historic List

WASHINGTON, D.C. — U.S. Congressman Carroll Hubbard has announced that certain Murray State University historic buildings have been entered into the national register of historic places.

A spokesman for Hubbard's office said confirmation came from the Heritage Conservation and Recreation Service of the U.S. Department of Interior.

A spokesman for Kentucky Heritage Commission said today the commission approved five buildings on the MSU campus for nomination and sent those nominations to the Department of Interior in Washington. Those buildings nominated were Wrather Hall, the future home of a Purchase Area museum, Oakhurst, formerly Edgewood and currently the home of Murray State University President Constantine Curris, Wilson Hall, the original library and Wells Hall, currently under renovation.

McBrayer Contradicts Statements By Carroll

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Terry McBrayer, considered Gov. Julian Carroll's choice as his successor, has contradicted statements by Carroll linking former Democratic Party Chairman Howard "Sonny" Hunt Jr. to McBrayer's campaign for the gubernatorial nomination.

Hunt, who had been under fire for months from Democrats expected to oppose McBrayer, resigned July 28.

Carroll said earlier this week in an interview with The Courier-Journal that Hunt and party treasurer William P. Curlin Jr. resigned to support McBrayer for governor.

"I just couldn't believe that (Carroll) said that," McBrayer said Wednesday. "I have not talked to Sonny Hunt in weeks and there has never been any discussion about him working in my campaign. And he's not going to."

"The governor obviously didn't know what the devil he was talking about. I think he had Potomac fever. I'm going to run my campaign, and not the governor's."

McBrayer said that Curlin is "tired and busy" practicing law and will not be involved in the campaign in any official capacity.

"He (Curlin) will certainly, hopefully, be on the sidelines to help out, but he is too worn out to take an active part in the campaign."

When Hunt resigned, he attributed his decision, in part, to a Courier-Journal investigation of his personal finances. Carroll said earlier this week that Hunt's explanation that he quit largely because of the investigation was "totally untrue."

"Sonny had been saying for months and months and months that he was going to resign in November so he could support McBrayer," Carroll said.

Carroll said Curlin resigned "so he could support McBrayer. But he didn't specifically say so, and he should have. For otherwise it looked like he resigned for some other reason, which he didn't."

Hunt and Curlin could not be reached for comment Wednesday.

McBrayer said that he had received between 50 and 75 telephone calls about the governor's remarks after they were published.

Most of the calls, he said, came from people concerned that the McBrayer campaign would be run by people associated with the party hierarchy or

Carter Administration, Smarting From House Inaction, Taking Tax Bill To Senate

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration — still smarting from a defeat in the House — is taking its case for a tax cut bill to the Senate Finance Committee, where the chairman already is calling for major changes opposed by the president.

If the record of the last few years is any guide, the committee will write a bill that gives considerably more benefits to corporations and investors than would fit into President Carter's idea of tax equity.

The Finance Committee called Treasury Secretary W. Michael Blumenthal as its first witness today. He was expected to spell out how much change the administration would be willing to take in the tax bill the president proposed earlier this year.

That bill was shot to pieces by the House after the administration refused until the last minute to negotiate a compromise. But there are reports the administration will be considerably more flexible in the Senate in hopes of getting a bill that would not end in a presidential veto just a few weeks before the November elections.

The measure passed by the House would allow new tax cuts of about $16.3 billion, effective next Jan. 1. The administration appears willing to accept a reduction of that figure, even though the president originally had asked for more.

The Carter administration has two major problems with the House-passed bill:

—The individual tax reductions are tilted toward the upper income brackets. Tax cuts in recent years have given proportionately more reductions to lower income groups, a course Carter wants continued.

—The bill contains a big reduction in the tax on capital gains that would all but wipe out the 1969 "minimum tax," which was designed to ensure that high-income investors pay some tax regardless of how many deductions they have.

Although the president's advisers reluctantly agreed to support some reduction in the tax on capital gains, which are profits from the sale of stocks, real estate and other property, they insist that the minimum tax must be retained.

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., chairman of the committee, has said publicly that he favors a bigger individual tax cut — but that he sees no need to change the "tilt" of the House bill from the upper income levels.

TVA Power Staff Recommends Rate Increase

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Tennessee Valley Authority's power staff today recommended a 4% increase in power rates effective Oct. 1.

TVA power planning manager Hugh Parris said the hike is needed to raise $120 million in revenue to balance the books for fiscal 1979 beginning in October. It would affect consumers in most of Tennessee and parts of Alabama, Virginia, Mississippi, Kentucky, North Carolina and Georgia.

TVA Chairman S. David Freeman said he will not act on the recommendation for two weeks.

Earlier in the morning, Chairman Freeman said President Carter's formal nomination of Chicago railroad executive Richard Freeman to the TVA's board of directors should go to Congress this week.

Tennessee Valley Authority's 2½ million power customers will get a slight break in their electric bills one month before officials want a general rate increase put into effect.

TVA announced Wednesday that its September bills will fall 3 cents per 1,000 kilowatt-hours, about one-tenth of 1 percent, reflecting lower fuel costs experienced by the government-owned utility in July.

TVA raised its basic rates 17 percent in July 1977 after going for two years without an increase. Nonetheless, consumers saw their bills rise sharply during that period through increases in monthly fuel adjustments reflecting rising coal prices.

Fluctuations in the costs of coal, uranium and power purchased from other utilities are passed on to consumers through the monthly fuel adjustments added to TVA's basic rates.

Last month the fuel adjustment was increased by $2.38, raising TVA bills above the $30 mark per 1,000 kwh for the first time in history.

Butler said TVA purchased about $18.1 million in electricity from other utilities in July, about $2 million more than June. He said the July increase was offset by returning one of three reactors at the Browns Ferry Nuclear Plant to work following a refueling outage.

Under the most widely used residential rate schedules, customers' bills for the first 1,000 kwh will be $30.28 in September, a one-cent drop from August. The first 500 kwh consumed are exempted from the fuel adjustment.

TVA provides electricity to 8 million residents in Tennessee and parts of Kentucky, Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, North Carolina and Virginia.

County Man Fined In Federal Court For Taxidermy Violations

A Hamlin man is on a two year probation period in which he may not hunt or perform any taxidermy work, following federal court proceedings in Paducah earlier this week.

The man, Bobby G. Waldrup, was fined $1500 and placed on two years probation for violating federal wildlife laws Tuesday.

Calloway County Attorney Max Parker said today charges also pertain to Calloway County District Court against Waldrup in connection with practicing taxidermy without a license.

In a plea bargaining agreement in U.S. District Court, Paducah, Waldrup was fined $500 for possessing a protected migratory bird, a Great Horned Owl; $500 for performing taxidermy services on migratory birds without a federal permit; and $500 for possessing migratory birds which were not tagged as required by federal law.

According to a court spokesman, Waldrup was also given a six month suspended jail sentence for selling and transporting a deer across state lines.

According to Willie J. Parker, Nashville, the agent in charge of the U.S.

Fish and Wildlife Service, Law Enforcement District 10, the Waldrup case is one of many undercover wildlife investigations recently completed by state and federal agents in Western Kentucky. The intensive undercover investigation was initiated to protect the American Bald Eagle as well as other migratory birds protected by federal law, Parker said.

Bald Eagles, now an endangered species, along with numerous hawks and owls, are still being killed by gunfire in Kentucky and Tennessee, Parker said. He added, "Many of these birds end up in taxidermy shops to be mounted for permanent display."

Parker pointed out that it is illegal to shoot or possess eagles, hawks, owls, and other protected migratory birds. These birds are "an important element in our eagle system and should not be harassed," Parker said.

While it is legal to mount migratory game birds such as ducks and geese, the person mounting the birds must have a federal taxidermy permit issued by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Parker said.

TOTALLY IMMERSED — Schroeder, played by Steve Hussung, remains totally immersed in his special rendition of "Moonlight Sonata" while Lucy, played by Jane Bailey, sings of her hopes that someday she and Schroeder will be married in the song "Schroeder" from the Community Theatre's production of "YOU'RE A GOOD MAN, CHARLIE BROWN." A special preview of the show was held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Regular performances are scheduled for Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 17, 18, 19 and 24, 25, 26 in the new city-county park.

State Education Council Starts College Goals Review Project

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The Kentucky Council on Higher Education has started a project to determine whether the state's colleges and universities are achieving their goals of improved learning and of preparing students for productive lives.

Unlike so-called competency testing, which begins next spring to measure what elementary and high school students have learned, student testing will play a small role in the evaluation techniques used by the Kentucky Outcomes Project.

"It's quite a complicated process," Randy Dahl, a council staff member, said Tuesday. Dahl is coordinating the project.

While competency testing is designed to measure the basic skills, the council project probably would measure "more elusive areas," Dahl said, such as a student's analytical ability.

The first step of the new testing method is developing means of measuring the results of higher education, Dahl said, describing the process as a "fuzzy testing area."

The council approved the project about a month ago and work remains in the preliminary stages, since tests that Kentucky will probably use are still being developed, Dahl said.

"What we're involved in now is trying to flesh out what seems like a good idea," he said.

The test will be used in a pilot program during an early phase of the project.

"We're hopeful that we can try a pilot application this spring," Dahl said, "but that's contingent on a lot of things" such as making arrangements with university officials and arranging faculty participation.

Last fall, in its initial recommendation that an evaluation process be started, the council said the process is important, primarily for the "consumers of the higher educational system" — students and employers who hire the students.

"Prospective students want to know that their investment of time, energy and money in an educational experience will prepare them for a productive and rewarding life," the council said.

"Employers want assurance that graduates of degree programs can perform at the expected levels of competencies the institutions claim they have attained when graduates are awarded degrees."

Her Kids Shouldn't Be Seen or Heard!

DEAR ABBY: I've been dating Ethel for over a year. She's a beautiful 35-year-old divorcee with three children. The oldest is 10. I'm 44 and have never been married. The problem is Ethel's kids. One hour is about all I can take of them—then they start getting on my nerves. If it weren't for those kids, I'd grab Ethel in a minute because she's everything a man could want in a woman.

I suppose we could send her kids to camp in the summer, but how about the rest of the time? Boarding schools, maybe? But it will be years before the two youngest will be old enough to go.

Ethel is pushing for marriage, and I honestly hate to let her go. She says she's not going to wait around for me much longer. What should I do?

CHUCK

DEAR CHUCK: It's a package deal. If you can't stand Ethel's kids, say goodbye to Ethel. And look for a woman who (a) has no children, (b) has grown children, or (c) is unbearable.

DEAR ABBY: You were very generous to suggest to DESPERATE IN DENVER that the reason her husband had lost interest in sex could be due to a physical or psychological disorder. Nine times out of 10 it's neither. I've been through this myself and so have many other wives.

When a husband reaches 40, he gets bored and restless, so in order to prove that he's still a "man," he reassures himself by making it with other women.

My husband was always "too tired" for me. There was nothing wrong with him physically or psychologically, but he was having an affair with his best friend's wife, so he pretended that he had lost interest in sex. The truth was, he had lost interest in ME! With others he was very much alive and able to function.

I am interested to know how many other letters you received like this.

UNTOUCHED IN WENATCHEE

DEAR UNTOUCHED: The number of "other letters" amounted to an epidemic!

DEAR ABBY: A lady who is a co-worker of mine wears the same dress for a week or two without changing. When she does change her dress, she wears that one for another week or two straight.

I've worked with her for several years, and this same pattern has persisted throughout that time.

She is single and makes a decent salary, so there's no excuse for having such a limited wardrobe. There are several of us who would like to bring it to her attention. Is there some tactful way to do this without offending her?

SICK OF THE SAME DRESS

DEAR SICK: If she's clean, and her dress is clean and tidy, because you and others are "sick of the same dress" is hardly a legitimate reason for her to buy more clothes. Even though she's single and makes a "decent" salary, outsiders can know nothing of her financial obligations.

Who said the teen years are the happiest? For Abby's new booklet "What Teenagers Want to Know," write Abby: 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Enclose $1 and a long, stamped (28 cents), self-addressed envelope, please.

Murray, Calloway FHA At Workshop

Dana Mansfield, president of Region I of the Future Homemakers of America, and her advisor, Mrs. Lucy Lilly, Murray High School, and Karon Walker, recreational leader of Region I of the FHA, and her advisor, Miss Lucy Forrest, Calloway County High School, attended a workshop for Future Homemakers of America held at Murray State University, Aug. 1 and 2, by the National Foundation of the March of Dimes.

During the 1 1/2 day meeting more than 200 FHA-HERO members from thirty schools in 18 western Kentucky counties learned ways of fostering good health habits and sound decision making among young adults.

The workshop was sponsored by the Purchase-Pennyrile Chapter of the March of Dimes and was directed by Ann Palmero, chairman of the Paducah Chapter of the March of Dimes.

Speakers at the workshop included Dr. Larry Franks, obstetrician-gynecologist from Paducah who spoke on "Medical Risks of Teen-Age Pregnancy;" the Rev. Rick Kirchoff, pastor of Arcadia United Methodist Church, Paducah, who spoke on "Sexuality and Responsibility."

Others participating in the workshop included Dr. Charlene Robinson, chairman of Purchase-Pennyrile March of Dimes; Leroy Whiting, assistant commissioner of Department of Human Services, Chicago, Ill.; Dwain McIntosh, assistant director of information and public services, Murray State University; Joe Rigsby, assistant professor of journalism, Murray State University; Kurt Engelhardt, producer and public service director of WPSD-TV, Paducah; Rhonda Barnett, president of the Kentucky FHA.

Aiming for a healthier next generation the FHA and March of Dimes co-sponsor a national project, "Healthy Babies: Chance or Choice?" Peer education, young people teaching young people, is a vital part of that venture.

"The way students take care of themselves now can affect their children" is the message FHA-HERO members are spreading.

Kentucky's participation in this project grew out of a conference in Washington, D. C., in early 1977 which brought girls together from seven states to train them about the problems of birth defects. These girls drew up the original program of work for Kentucky FHA chapters and the workshop at Murray was designed to help individual chapters carry out meaningful projects within their schools and communities to increase general awareness about ways to prevent birth defects.

Shampooing No Relief For Baldness

Q: Mr. T. T. writes that baldness is common among the men in his family, and wants to know whether frequent shampooing will help to prevent his possible baldness or encourage it.

A: You are correct that baldness is an inherited characteristic and is sex linked, appearing usually in the male members of a family. Baldness results from the hair follicles failing in later life to reproduce new hairs after losing earlier ones, as is normally true in the growth cycle of hair.

The average man has about 100,000 hair follicles beneath the surface of the scalp. Each follicle produces 15 to 20 hairs in a lifetime with the growth extending over a period of three to four years, following which the hair drops out. Then, the follicle undergoes a rest period of several months, after which a new hair begins to grow out of the follicle.

The follicles have different cycles so that a few hairs are lost each day while others are beginning to grow and replace those which are lost. Except in very unusual circumstances, such as a prolonged high fever or severe shock, all of the hair is not lost at the same time. It should be mentioned that certain medicines are given to cause the follicles to lose their hairs at the same time to make it possible to treat deep scalp infections.

Shampooing the hair that extends beyond the follicles has no influence on them. In other words, the frequency of washing the hair or what is used in doing so depends on its greasiness and the texture, and has nothing to do with the prevention or production of baldness. The hair is inert or "dead," but it can be damaged by excessive heat, drying, or curling. Usually such injury to the hair is temporary and is relieved by the growth of hair to replace the injured portion.

Good general health and nutrition help to encourage normal cell health of the scalp follicles. Such can be done by an adequate diet. Vitamin supplements are not required.

Transplants of hair follicles from the back portion of the scalp to the balding area, when done by an experienced surgeon, often give adequate hair to cover the bald area. Most men who lose their hair adjust to baldness, while others shave their entire scalp on a regular basis. In other words, several choices are available.

New State Regulation Help For Beneficiaries, Estates

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A newly-approved state regulation will provide the beneficiaries of estates with a means of acquiring funds for immediate needs without having to first obtain a release from the Kentucky Department of Revenue.

The new regulation, codified as 103 KAR 7:020, came about as a result of Gov. Julian Carroll's efforts to help the survivors of deceased persons obtain money for current expenses with a minimum of delay. Previously, approval by the Department of Revenue was required before any funds could be received by beneficiaries.

Financial institutions are now authorized to release up to $2,500 to the proper representative of the estate. The regulation requires financial institutions to provide written notice to the department within 30 days after the release of the funds.

The Department of Revenue has announced that copies of the regulation and forms necessary to obtain the funds have been mailed to financial institutions, lawyers and public accountants. Copies may be obtained by writing the Inheritance and Estate Tax Section, Department of Revenue, Frankfort, Ky., 40601.

Miss Leah Beth Vance Is Married To Garry Evans

Miss Leah Beth Vance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Vance of Almo, became the bride of Garry L. Evans, son of Mrs. Juanita Evans and the late Orville R. (Buster) Evans of Murray, on Saturday, July first, at 6:30 p.m., at the Seventh and Poplar Church of Christ.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Bro. John Dale.

The sanctuary of the church was decorated with baskets of peach carnations with green foliage on brass circular stands. The family pews were marked with large peach satin ribbons.

Music selections chosen were "Sunrise, Sunset," "There Is Love," "I Can't Help Falling In Love With You," and the traditional wedding marches. The music for the ceremony was arranged on tape by Harry Russell.

Bride's Dress

The bride, given in marriage by her parents, was lovely in her formal length gown of white sheer and peau de soie satin. The fitted and slightly flared bodice had a high fitted bodice with jewel neckline and shaped self ruffle. The front yoke and sleeves were accented with-venice lace. The full length and puff sleeves were enhanced with a self ruffle. The gown was accented with soft back pleats and a gathered bodice back. A flowing chapel length train with lower ruffle further enhanced the gown. The dress was designed and made by the bride and Miss Frances Johnson.

Her veil was a Juliet cap with bridal illusion which was adorned with matching venice lace. She carried a fresh colonial bouquet of french carnations and white sweetheart roses, accented with white lace and a string of pearls.

The bride's jewelry included a gold diamond heart necklace, given to her by the groom, and for "goodluck" she wore the wedding band of her grandmother, Mrs. Melissa Hooks.

Mrs. Vicky White was the matron of honor and Ms. Debbie Wyatt was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Connie Evans, Ms. Sandra Stark, and Mrs. Denise Steele.

The attendants wore formal gowns of peach and blue chiffon in a floral print with a high waist line styled with a chiffon caplet overlay. They each wore a 1928 butterfly necklace, gift from the bride and groom, and each carried a long stem peach carnation.

Larry Evans, brother of the groom, and Alan Jones served as best men.

Groomsmen were Dale Chadwick, Steve Steele, and Jan Vance, brother of the bride. The men wore mint seville Mr. Penguin tuxedos.

For the wedding the bride's mother chose to wear a royal blue sheet-lined floor length dress accented with ruffled caplet and tie bow. She wore matching blue accessories. The groom's mother wore a light blue knit floor length dress with a gathered neckline and accented with a matching blue belt, and had black accessories. They wore corsages of white orchids.

Mrs. Melissa Hooks, grandmother of the bride, wore a floral knit dress of blue, beige, and white with a matching jacket. Mrs. Ila Peeler, grandmother of the groom, chose to wear a floral knit dress of pink and blue. Each grandmother wore a corsage of white carnations.

Guests registered in the bride's book at a table covered with a white lace floor length cloth. A bud vase with peach carnations and green foliage was arranged on the table. Miss Gay Evans, sister of the groom, kept the register.

Mrs. Miriam Olree directed the wedding and was also presented a corsage of white carnations.

Reception

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held in the church fellowship hall.

The bridal table was covered by a floor length white lace cloth and had a centerpiece of peach carnations accented with baby's breath and green foliage. On one end was the three tiered white wedding cake topped with wedding bells and decorated with cherubs and Italian filigree columns. Opposite the cake was the crystal punch bowl. A silver tray held miniature mints decorated with peach and white carnations, which were served along with nuts. The mints were designed by Mrs. Mayme Bryan.

Serving the guests were Mrs. Gene Jones, Mrs. Velva Maupin, aunt of the bride, Mrs. Jane Lovett, and Mrs. Marilyn Thornton. Little Miss Tammy Usher distributed the rice ornaments which were from a white wicker basket filled with white satin rice filled rosebuds.

For their wedding trip the bride chose to wear a white striped terry cloth top with matching navy slacks. She carried her bridal bouquet.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Evans are now residing at D-13 Fox Meadows, Murray.

Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Jones, friends of the bridal couple, were hosts for the rehearsal dinner held on Friday evening, June 30, at their home. Covers were laid for approximately 25 guests including the wedding party.

The bridal couple presented their attendants with gifts.

Ways Used To Dry Beans

There are two ways to dry beans and peas. One way is to pick the pods as soon as they are mature and spread them out in a dry, warm ventilated area. Another is to pull the plants after the pods are ripe and dry them as you would hay.

Once dry, shell the pods and treat them to protect them from moths and weevils. This can be done by freezing at 0 degrees or below for several days, or heating in an oven at about 180 degrees for about 15 minutes.

A Class In State History

The class in Kentucky History will now come to order.

Today's lesson will be in defense of my thoroughbred racing pressbox associate, Billy Reed, sports editor of The Courier-Journal.

In his column recently about my golf-playing buddy and long-time friend, A.B. (Happy) Chandler, needs a little clarification.

In recounting Happy's lifetime accomplishments, Reed said in his column, "...Chandler's regime (as baseball commissioner) came to an end in 1951. To get a new contract, he needed support of 12 of the 16 owners. But he got only 11 votes, so Chandler resigned and came to Kentucky, where in 1955 he became the first (and only) man to ever be elected governor twice."

Now, I know historians are going to jump all over this statement, and Billy is likely to get a lot of mail and telephone calls.

But, the answer is, "Yes and No." It's according to how you look at it, and according to your interpretation of Kentucky political history.

There have been four governors who have served two terms, and been elected in the final fall vote by the people.

We are going to start out with Kentucky's first governor, Isaac Shelby, 1792-1826. He served his first term, 1792-96, and was elected for his second term, 1812-1816.

Next came our second governor, James Garrard, 1749-1822. He served two successive four-year terms, 1796-1804.

Third in line was James B. McCreary, 1838-1918. He was first elected for a four-year term in 1875 and served through 1879. He came back to serve a second term from 1911-1915.

Now, let's get back to the "yes and no" answer to my deafness of Reed.

Kentucky nominated its gubernatorial candidates through party conventions up until 1900, and for a while after that it was up to the governor whether to call a party convention method or by primary ballot.

McCreary was nominated by convention for his second term by the Democratic Party.

So far, not a one of the governors who served four-year terms were nominated by primary ballot.

The change came in 1935 when the extrovert from Henderson County had gone through Transylvania College on $5.00 and a red sweater and had served in the Kentucky Senate and was lieutenant governor at the time.

Governor Ruby Lafoon was supporting Tom Rhea of Logan County as his successor. Lafoon was going out of the state after the regular 1934 session of the legislature, but he had decreed before that time that the gubernatorial nominees would be selected by party conventions. As soon as Lafoon crossed the Ohio River, and Happy had an informant to give him the exact time, Happy issued a call for a special session of the General Assembly.

Lafoon came home and tried to block the special session, but his attempt was unsuccessful. Lafoon forces thought that former Gov. J.C.W. Beckham who became governor when Goebel was assassinated, and served from 1900-1907, was going to run.

Lafoon was successful in passing "double primary" for the Democrats were predominate in Kentucky. He thought Beckham might win in a single primary. Happy became the opposition candidate and ran second to Rhea.

Happy won in the run-off primary and won over the Republicans in the November election, becoming the first governor to be nominated by popular vote, that is, the first governor of Kentucky to be nominated by popular vote, who has served two terms.

Happy served until late 1939, but resigned to be appointed U. S. Senator to fill the unexpired term of U. S. Senator Logan. Happy was re-elected to a full term in the Senate and his lieutenant governor, Keen Johnson was elected to a full term as governor, 1939-43.

Happy resigned as U. S. Senator after the end of World War II to become commissioner of Professional Baseball. He held that office until 1951. His vote of confidence of the owners failed by the one vote mentioned above.

So, to set the historians straight, Happy is the only governor who was elected to two terms by popular vote.

If you want to take the broad view and talk about those who served two terms, the others are cited above, you are correct at "no," but there are others, including our present governor, Julian Carroll, former Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, and others who have served one full term and part of another by virtue of a governor leaving office by death or appointment to the U. S. Senate or otherwise.

The fact remains, Happy still lays claim to the fact he is the only governor nominated and elected by the people to serve two full terms as governor. His unprecedented effort for a third term in 1963 was narrowly aborted by Edward T. Breathitt.

Thus, ends our history lesson for today.

Fed's Reports To Get Close Scrutiny

NEW YORK (AP) — The Federal Reserve's regular Thursday afternoon reports on the money supply will get especially close scrutiny in the next several weeks from analysts who believe the central bank's monetary policy is at a crossroads.

After G. William Miller became its chairman early this year, the Fed pushed interest rates steadily higher in its effort to restrain inflation by controlling the growth of the money supply.

Then, beginning last month, it seemed to back off while awaiting evidence of the impact of its credit-tightening strategy.

Jeffrey Nichols, chief economist at New York's Argus Research Corp., pointed out that the figures on monetary growth in the coming weeks are likely to give the Fed a signal whether more upward pressure on interest rates is needed.

And that, in turn, will do much to determine whether the slowdown in business activity that many economists foresee develops as a minor decline in growth, or something worse.

Foreign-exchange traders will be watching closely too. The dollar's recent slide against some leading overseas currencies, Nichols argued, is not so much the result of any economic fundamentals, but rather "a vote of no confidence" in the way the United States is dealing with its economic problems, notably inflation.

The Fed's efforts are complicated by time lags. It takes time to gather data and determine what is happening with the money supply, and more time before any actions the Fed decides upon take effect.

Thus, Nichols said, it was late May before the money supply, which had been rising sharply for most of the spring, began to cool down.

Although it showed some wide short-term swings from late May through late July, he said, the net change was relatively small for that period.

If it continues to grow only moderately, the Fed might possibly have gained at least a temporary standoff in its antinflation battle. And that would presumably allow it to hold back on any further credit-tightening, which would please those who fear a "credit crunch" or who are simply unhappy that mortgages are going at 9 1/2 percent or more these days.

If monetary growth should accelerate again, however, the Fed could face a real dilemma: Tighten credit some more and risk a serious squeeze on the economy, or let monetary growth keep running at a pace it considers unacceptable.

Nichols said there are reasons for hoping that monetary growth will in fact ease off: An easing of the pace of the economy, for one, and the prospect that high interest rates will have their intended effect of reducing demand for credit.

He May Have Missed The TV Boat, But He's Happy Here In Murray

If James Lawrence could have seen 30 years ago what an emerging new electronic medium called "television" would grow into, chances are he would have been a leading set designer in Hollywood or New York today.

"It was in 1948," he recalled, "that I had an offer from 20th Century Fox to go into television set designing, but I didn't think TV was here to stay. It was the biggest goof of my life, but hindsight is better than foresight. Besides, I'm perfectly happy doing what I'm doing right here in Murray."

For the past 12 years, with exception of four months during the past year, James has been an interior designer with Thurman's Furniture on East Main. Those four months were spent in Louisville where he joined his sister, Kay, after their mother's death in March, 1977.

In Louisville, he managed an Ethan Allen furniture store, but soon found out management wasn't for him. "Thurman's hadn't replaced me, so I thought the best thing for me was to get right back here to Murray where I belong," he laughed.

James got into interior decorating and design, at which he is quite talented, much by accident. Born at Brewers, the little town near the Graves-Marshall County line on Highway 80 and famous for McCoy Tarry and his 1947 state high school basketball champions, James and his sister as youngsters seemed headed for concert music careers. Now director of music at the Parkview Junior High School in Jeffersonville, Ind., Kay did, to some extent, reach that goal.

From the time he was four until he was 10, his mother faithfully drove the two of them into Mayfield for lessons from Miss Mary Walker, one of the sweetest ladies who ever lived. Miss Mary was my mother's Sunday School teacher and Mom dearly loved her.

When he was 10, though, Miss Mary felt she had taught James and Kay all she could and suggested that they continue their lessons at Murray State with Claire R. McGavern, the university's talented piano instructor. This routine was followed until James came to the campus to go to college.

"By then, though, I had all the Bach, Beethoven and Chopin I could stand," he said. "Frankly, I was bored. The music Kay and I could play was so much more advanced than that offered in the classes, it was no challenge."

It was in Miss Clara Eagle's art classes in the same building that he found his niche in life. "I always had a flair for design," he said, "and found Miss Eagle's classes interesting and exciting."

Although he didn't graduate from Murray State, James holds a diploma from the New York School of Design and also attended the University of Tennessee. He also is one of only two members in West Kentucky of the prestigious American Society of Interior Designers. The other is John Parks of Paducah and originally from Mayfield.

When he left Murray State, James was good enough in the interior design field to land a job with Golden's Custom Furniture in Memphis, a firm which designed and built furniture.

He was with Golden for seven years, during which he and the firm had a part in the interior decorating of "Graceland," the Elvis Presley mansion just after the singer bought the stately old Colonial home from a doctor in the early 1950s. Trying to spread the work around, Presley had given the job of decorating his home to several Memphis firms, and James' firm got several of the rooms to furnish.

"The house was done in a theatrical motif," he said, "with navy blue walls, white woodwork and red carpeting in much of it. The bedrooms were Navy blue and chartreuse, and his was the first of the king-size beds that I ever worked with. Its spread had a big 'P' quilted into it. He also had an all-metal, pink and white kitchen, which was the rage then."

James says his biggest decorating job, however, was not the Presley home, but that of a wealthy contractor in the late 1940s. "They went to California for four months and told us that when they came home all they wanted to move into the new home was their clothes," he said. "We bought everything, the china, crystal, towels and even the ash trays. It cost $25,000, and that was a lot of money in those days."

Until only a few years ago, James kept up his music, playing piano in bands and combos "in every bar and grill within 100 miles." The most recent was a five-piece group, which until only a few years back was one of the most popular in the area.

Playing with him were: Reed Hale, who works at Plaza Court, on guitar; Danny Workman, who is in the car business in town, on drums; and various Murray State musicians they would latch on to. The group since has been disbanded, and none of the three are playing professionally any more. "I've even sold my traveling piano," James laughed.

James may at times feel like he missed the boat with television back there in '48, and occasionally he may feel the itch to bang out some jazz on the piano, but you'd never get either impression from talking with him.

He's perfectly content doing just what he's doing right here in Murray. It's where he belongs.

In Friday's Jamboree Finale

Reidland, Trigg County Coaches Look For Improvement In 1978

by TONY WILSON
Sports Editor

Note: This is the second in a series of three previewing the third-annual West Kentucky Football Jamboree at Roy Stewart Stadium.

Though the two teams won only three games between them last season, Friday night's matchup between Reidland and Trigg County in the final contest of the West Kentucky Football Jamboree should be an interesting one.

Danny Maxberry will make his debut as head coach at Trigg, a position vacated by now-Murray High Assistant Coach Jimmy Harrell.

Trigg County won only once while losing ten contests, but Maxberry feels that last season's experience will enhance this year's chances.

"It's hard to say that we will do any better than last season," Maxberry said.

"because I don't expect a lot of depth on the team. But many times a losing season will help a team the next year."

Reidland Coach Tony Burkeen knows what his squad must do if any improvement is to be made on last year's 2-9 mark: play well against Marshall County.

"We opened our season last year against Marshall County (as well as this year)," Burkeen said, "and we were beaten not just physically (a 34-7 loss), but also mentally. It just seemed that we never really recovered from that."

That factor, according to Burkeen, was a main concern this winter when he developed a weight program to try and strengthen his player's stamina.

Since most of Trigg County's players will play both ways (both offensively and defensively), Maxberry feels that his season success, too, will rely on the physical condition of his team.

"I think our lack of depth hurt us last season, because we led in many of our games before the second half began," Maxberry said. "A team that is in good shape will definitely be an asset. But I'm having a hard time convincing the kids that we have to be in good condition to have any hope of a good year."

Reidland will have three capable quarterbacks in 6-3 senior Charlie Peck, 5-8 junior Pete Johnson and 5-6 sophomore Randy Mayfield.

"Peck and Johnson will definitely both see action," Burkeen said, "and Mayfield's playing time will depend on the success of the other two."

Peck was a substitute at the start of last season, but was forced into the starting role when now-graduated Tom Herrold was injured in the third game of the year.

Other offensive players Burkeen figures to count on are 6-0, 207-pound center Brent Grimes — "a real college prospect" — and 5-10, 165-pound fullback Gary Slayden.

Burkeen feels that the best hitter on the squad and a fine team leader will be Terry Hayden, a tailback on offense and a safety on defense. His teammates deemed him "Hatchet" because of his intensity.

Maxberry looks for junior quarterback Mark Emery to develop as the season progresses. "He's a good passer, but he needs a lot of game experience to teach himself discipline when he sets to throw."

Burkeen, though, feels that any winning team keys on a sound running attack. "I believe our offense will be all right if we can contain ourselves," he said.

"Last season, our defense did a good job, but they were on the field so much, due to offensive errors, that eventually we were always scored upon."

Burkeen is trying to eliminate players from playing both offense and defense. "That's where the conditioning comes in."

The Greyhounds have lost only one player to injuries — wing back Gary Champion — due to an injured knee.

Friday's game will be a rematch between the two Class AA schools in last year's jamboree, which Trigg won 7-0. "It would be nice to win again, but that's not what we're worried about. We want to see what we have," Maxberry said.

Tomorrow: Murray High vs Caldwell.

Blue Was On, But Fryman 2-Hitter Lifts Expos; Billingham 13-5 After Shutout

By The Associated Press

The thermometer was at 90 degrees. Vida Blue was throwing his best heat. But Montreal's Woodie Fryman was the hottest player of all in Olympic Stadium.

Fryman, 7-7, hurled a one-hitter Wednesday night, surrendering only a single by Darrell Evans in the second inning and facing only 28 batters as the Expos edged the San Francisco Giants 1-0. The loss dropped the Giants out of a tie for first place in the National League West with Los Angeles, which beat Philadelphia 5-2.

The Expos were glad to get one against Blue, who threw a three-hitter. Larry Parrish's fourth-inning triple scored Tony Perez, who singled, with the lone run.

Elsewhere in the NL, Pittsburgh bombed Cincinnati 13-2, San Diego edged the New York Mets 2-1, Atlanta blanked Chicago 9-0 and Houston was a 4-2 victor over St. Louis.

Dodgers 5, Phillies 2
Bob Welch won his fifth game without a loss since joining the Dodgers on June 19 and Reggie Smith supplied the power with a grand slam in the third inning as Los Angeles took over first place in the West.

"He has the confidence and bulldoggedness of a Don Drysdale, the motion and delivery of Carl Erskine and the good control of Don Sutton," said Tom Lasorda of his rookie sensation.

With men on second and third and one out in the third, Phillies Manager Danny Ozark ordered Davey Lopes walked intentionally and the move backfired when Smith hit his grand slam one out later.

Pirates 13, Reds 2
Dave Parker smashed two homers and knocked in five runs for the Pirates and John Candelaria, 9-11, won his first game in over a month.

Astros 4, Cardinals 2
Joe Niekro, Phil's younger brother and a fellow knuckleballer, pitched a six-hitter, also walking one and striking out five, leading the Astros to victory. George Hendrick hit his 14th homer to break up Niekro's shutout bid.

Baseball Roundup

Traded last March to the Tigers in the wave of a youth movement at Cincinnati, Jack Billingham has proved so far this season that he's still got a winning right arm.

It's provided him with some solid performances, like Wednesday night's seven-hit, 2-0 victory over the Cleveland Indians. That was Billingham's 13th triumph of the season and fourth shutout in his last six games.

He's not surprised at all with his admirable 13-5 record.

"I really got myself together this winter," said Billingham. "I spent a lot of time working on my changeup. It's made a big difference this year."

In other American League games, the New York Yankees beat the Oakland A's 5-3; the Seattle Mariners stopped the Baltimore Orioles 7-5; the Boston Red Sox trimmed the California Angels 4-2; the Chicago White Sox turned back the Texas Rangers 4-2; the Milwaukee Brewers took a doubleheader from the Toronto Blue Jays, 8-1 and 3-2 and the Minnesota Twins whipped the Kansas City Royals 5-1 in the first game of a double-header before losing the second game 11-7.

Billingham seemed to get stronger as the game progressed, retiring 15 in a row at one stretch beginning in the fourth inning. The triumph was Billingham's eighth straight.

David Clyde pitched a strong game for Cleveland, giving up but seven hits, but the Tigers scored lone runs in the first and third innings.

Yankees 5, A's 3
Bucky Dent hit his fourth home run of the year, a leadoff shot in the seventh inning, to break a 3-3 tie and trigger New York and surging Catfish Hunter over Oakland.

Hunter, 7-4, won his fifth game since coming off the disabled list on July 17. The veteran right-hander worked six innings.

Murray State Football 16 Days To Go: Gottfried Happy

With the Murray State football season only 16 days away, Head Coach Mike Gottfried feels that the team has thus far accomplished what he had hoped: the overall conditioning of the squad, and a chance for he and his staff to view the freshman and their talents.

But Gottfried feels that though the enthusiasm of the squad is good, it must get better. "There's still a lot of positions open. We're running our practices with cautious optimism."

The Racers will don pads for the first time today, but, according to Gottfried, there won't be a lot of heavy hitting initially; it will be gradual.

Murray's first scrimmage will be Saturday, MSU's Press Day, and will give area media a chance to see the Racers in action.

The two-day practice format will continue through Aug. 23, with practice sessions scheduled for 9:30 a.m. and 7 p.m. Friday's evening practice with begin around 2:30 p.m., since the West Kentucky Football Jamboree will be held that night in Stewart Stadium.

One position that is still open is at placekicker, vacated by Hank LaGorce, who didn't report for practice. Jim Dunnaway, a freshman from Greenup County, is being considered for the spot.

Gottfried is pleased with the freshman turnout — about 70 of the over 100 gridders out. One impressive first-year player is a walk-on — quarterback Fred Fiveash from Toronto. Fiveash reported for practice Tuesday.

Quite a contrast exists in the team's biggest and smallest player. Vernon Broadnax, from Xenia, Ohio, stands 6-6 and reported for practice weighing 410 pounds.

Clint Williams, probably the smallest player, is a 5-7, 155-pound wide receiver from Mansfield, Ohio.

Wildcats Will Be Hard-Pressed To Duplicate 10-1

By The Associated Press
LEXINGTON, Ky. — Kentucky football Coach Fran Curci has never run out of things to worry about. Beginning his sixth season with the Wildcats, he has to follow his own tough act: a 10-1 season, 6-0 Southeastern Conference mark and No. 6 national ranking.

It's hard to improve a 10-1 record and, given Kentucky's schedule and player losses, it seems Curci will be hardpressed just to equal it. But that's how it seemed last year, too.

"This time last year we thought our schedule was the toughest we ever faced," Curci said in an interview. The Wildcats had just five home games, and the road games included Penn State, Louisiana State, Florida and Georgia. Kentucky beat them all.

Those games will be played in Lexington this year, along with contests against Vanderbilt and Baylor, the only team to beat Kentucky in 1977. So what's the problem, Coach?

"What worries me this year is that every team we play is improved," Curci said. "You go right down the line. Not only do we play basically the same people, we play some tough opponents. This thing with South Carolina (the opening game) really has me worried. They practice 10 days before we even get on the field. They'll already have a game under their belts and we have to go down there and play at night. They'll already know what the strengths and weaknesses of their own team are. They've got a tremendous advantage over us in that area. Sometimes you think you know the areas where your team is strong, but then it doesn't turn out that way."

Kentucky's strength may depend on the arm of quarterback Mike Deaton. Standing 6-foot-1, he is an accomplished passer, but lacks the intimidating presence of his predecessor, 6-5 Derrick Ramsey.

Ramsey, a third-team All-America who was drafted by Oakland as a tight end, kept pass defenders honest with his rushing ability.

With his departure, Kentucky's offense had to be retooled for Deaton, but Curci said he is accustomed to such adjustments.

"I've never been in a situation where I can say, 'This is my offense,' and recruit accordingly," he said. "We're never able to get all the good players we want. When we get an exceptional player like Ramsey, we build an offense around him and that's what we did. Then I prayed that he wouldn't get hurt and he didn't, so we were lucky there."

Also returning are running backs Randy Brooks and Freddie Williams. Chris Hill has been moved to wide receiver and Curci said the jury still is out on Rod Stewart, most valuable offensive player in the 1976 Peach Bowl, whose season ended last year with a knee injury in the second game.

"We don't know what's gonna happen there," Curci said. "He's worked diligently every day since he's been out of a cast. He had a very serious injury and that's all you can say about it."

"We think we have a pretty good offensive line, as good a line as anybody's," he said. "You have to have that, but you still have to rely on somebody to make the big plays so the defense will have to gear up to stop them."

Five players from an excellent defense departed for the pros, but Curci said he was not worried about this year's squad.

"We think we can have a real good defense, although we lost Art Still and a lot of other good people," Curci said.

Top returnees include nose guard Richard Jaffe and linebacker Jim Kovach, a medical student and three-year regular who missed last season with a shoulder injury and was granted an extra year.

A Tennessee Vol Who Snaps The Ball

Steve Porter, son of Bill and Margaret Porter of Murray, is a 6-3, 242-pound senior center for the University of Tennessee with a special job: snapping the ball for punts and place kicks. His consistency is a comfort to coaches, who realize snaps in kicking situations are of critical importance. Porter, 22, played football at Murray High School under Coach John Hina.

Joe Paterno, Penn State Fans Hoping For No. 1

By The Associated Press
Since Joe Paterno took over as Penn State's head football coach in 1966, the Nittany Lions have had one second-place finish in The Associated Press rankings, along with one third, three fifths, one seventh, one eighth and two 10ths. Obviously, something is missing. And the Penn State fans aren't looking to add a fourth, sixth or ninth-place standing to Paterno's glittering 112-24-1 record. The only thing on their minds this fall is No. 1.

And you can bet Paterno is thinking along those lines, too, even though he isn't about to get overly excited before the demanding 11-game schedule begins. A 11-1 mark last year was the same as that of Notre Dame, Alabama, Arkansas and Texas, all of whom finished ahead of Penn State in the final ratings. But, warns Paterno, "We should be better than we were last year," when the only blemish was a 24-20 loss to sixth-ranked Kentucky. Only two things are better than 11-1. One is 11-0-1; the other is 12-0-0. Either log would be a formidable accomplishment with a schedule that includes road games against Ohio State and Kentucky and winds up with three Bowl winners — Maryland, North Carolina State and Pittsburgh. The Lions have 32 returnees from last year's top 44 players, led by record-breaking quarterback Chuck Fusina. However, Penn State is not even a shoo-in for the mythical Eastern championship. The Pitt Panthers, according to Coach Jackie Sherrill, expect to have "another outstanding football team." And it probably will come as a surprise to learn that Pitt has the best record in the country over the last two seasons — 12-0 and a national championship in 1976, 9-2-1 last year. "We put together a great football team by the end of the year," says Sherrill, who must replace 12 starters, including standout quarterback Matt Cavanaugh and defensive tackle Randy Holloway. Whoever succeeds Cavanaugh — sophomores

Rick Trocano and Lindsay Delaney or transfer Scott Jenner — will have one of the top receivers in the nation in Gordon Jones. The running game should be stronger and so, despite some major losses, should the defense, led by Hugh Green, the brilliant freshman end of 1977. Boston College has its usual complement of huge, talented linemen (250-pound guard John Schmeding and 260-pound defensive tackle Ed Smerlas are the best) and a new coach in Ed Chlebe.

Stansbury Probe Continues

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two former city police officers have been hired to investigate Mayor William Stansbury for a committee of the Board of Aldermen in its probe of the mayor's conduct in office.

Brian Hawley and David Shepherd, who formed a private detective agency four months ago, will be paid $35 an hour. Their firm, Investigative Services Inc., was hired by S. Arnold Lynch, lawyer for the aldermanic committee of inquiry.

The panel was formed July 27 in the wake of disclosures that Stansbury lied about his whereabouts at the start of the city firefighters' strike less than two weeks earlier.

Both investigators were members of the Louisville Police Department's intelligence unit, which monitors organized crime and vice.

Stansbury Probe Continues

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Two former city police officers have been hired to investigate Mayor William Stansbury for a committee of the Board of Aldermen in its probe of the mayor's conduct in office.

Brian Hawley and David Shepherd, who formed a private detective agency four months ago, will be paid $35 an hour. Their firm, Investigative Services Inc., was hired by S. Arnold Lynch, lawyer for the aldermanic committee of inquiry.

The panel was formed July 27 in the wake of disclosures that Stansbury lied about his whereabouts at the start of the city firefighters' strike less than two weeks earlier.

Both investigators were members of the Louisville Police Department's intelligence unit, which monitors organized crime and vice.

Hawley, president of the agency, left the police force last October before Stansbury took office. Shepherd resigned after a reorganization ordered last January by Police Chief Jon Higgins, a Stansbury appointee.

Murray State And Henry Co. Schools Join Hands On Grant

Murray State University and the Henry County (Tenn.) public school system have been awarded a federal grant of up to $1.1 million for a five-year Teacher Corps Project designed to meet the learning needs of children from low income families.

Funded by the U. S. Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the program involves a grant award of almost $160,000 for 1978-79, with continued funding each year for four more years.

Dr. Jerome C. Hainsworth, a professor in the Department of Instruction and Learning at Murray State and author of the grant proposal, will serve as the project director. Dr. William O. Price assisted in the grant preparation.

He said experienced teachers will be retrained "to enable them to improve the school climate by finding and developing ways to foster improved learning for children from low socio-economic backgrounds." The program will also provide preservice teacher training.

Teachers in grades one through 12 from four schools — Henry County High, Grove Junior High, Henry Elementary, and Puryear Elementary — and the J. R. Miller Center for exceptional children will be involved in the project.

Hainsworth summarized the thrust of the program as an effort to establish minimal acceptable standards of achievement for students at all levels and then to prepare teachers to devise teaching strategies to bring students up to those standards.

"To accomplish our purposes, it will be necessary for teachers to develop a more complete understanding of the multicultural heritage within the Henry County area and of the children they teach," he noted.

Hainsworth said his enthusiasm about the project has been enhanced by his observation of a genuine commitment of the part of the Henry County community to support and to become involved in the program.

Frank Gallimore, superintendent of Henry County schools, expressed his pleasure that the system has been approved to participate with Murray State University in a joint venture with the scope and magnitude of Teacher Corps.

"We feel that the Teacher Corps Project will have a positive impact on the teachers and students alike during the planned five-year period. We are very appreciative of the preparation and planning by Murray State and look forward to the association with its representatives during this period," he added.

Faculty members in the Department of Instruction and Learning at Murray State will work as program development team leaders. Dr. Roger Childress is assigned to Henry County High, Price to Grove Junior High and the Miller Center, and Dr. Willis Johnson to the elementary schools. Gary Schroeder, also a member of that faculty and a grant contributor, will serve as document-evaluator. Team leaders will direct the work of three-member teams in each school. Working with them will be the principal and a faculty member from each school who has been designated as site coordinator.

Principals are: Darrell Rowlett, Henry County High; Luke Welch, Grove Junior High; Horace Derrington, Henry Elementary; Garry Smith, Puryear Elementary; and Jack Watkins, J. R. Miller Center.

Site coordinators are: Cordelia Miller, Henry County High; Gerald Howard, Grove Junior High; and Grace McCain, Henry Elementary.

Hainsworth said the first year will be devoted to planning, the second and third to implementation of planning objectives, and the fourth and fifth to the actual institutionalization of the project.

Balloonists Complete Trek Across Atlantic

LONDON (AP) — Three Americans from New Mexico floated over South Wales at sunrise today, heading for the English Channel and northern France after completing the first successful crossing of the Atlantic by balloon.

Ben Abruzzo, 48, Maxie Anderson, 44, and Larry Newman, 31, all from Albuquerque, were expected to bring their balloon, the Double Eagle II, down somewhere in northern France early tonight after setting new time and distance records for balloon flight.

"We hope they keep going as long as they can," said the ground flight director, W.C. "Doc" Wiley. "We want them to establish a record no one can break. It's a great achievement to cross the Atlantic, but they are in such good shape that I think they can go on for a long while yet."

The Double Eagle II completed the Atlantic crossing at 10 p.m. Wednesday (5 p.m. EDT). Shannon Airport reported, reaching the southwest coast of Ireland 121 hours and 18 minutes after the 112-foot-high, helium-filled bag took off last Friday night from Presque Isle, Main, near the Canadian border. It was the 18th attempt to cross the Atlantic by balloon, and the 16th from west to east. The last previous attempt, and the closest to being successful, was made two weeks ago by Britons Donald Cameron and Christopher Davies, who ditched 117 miles from the French coast.

Seven persons died in previous attempts. By dawn today, the Double Eagle II had floated across southern Ireland and the St. George's Channel and was over the Pembrokeshire coast of South Wales, moving southeast at 30 knots, Wiley reported from his flight control center in the London Hilton Hotel.

One coast guard report put the balloon at 20,000 feet, another at 10,000, but the heat of the sun on the helium was expected to lift it to 20,000 if it wasn't already there.

"We expect them to cross the Bristol Channel, England and the English Channel about lunchtime Thursday, then the French coast in the Le Havre area and land somewhere in the Paris region at around 8:30 p.m. (3:30 p.m. EDT)," press spokesman Jim Mitchell said

Committee Unhappy With LRC's Study Of Workman Compensation

By HERBERT SPARROW
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The interim Labor and Industry Committee is unhappy with the Legislative Research Commission's creation of a special subcommittee to study workmen's compensation.

The committee said Wednesday that review of the controversial subject should be left in its hands completely, and the panel voted to appeal the action to the LRC at the commission's September meeting.

The committee also voted to hold its next meeting the same day as the LRC to act in response to the outcome of the appeal.

Committee members claimed the LRC had overstepped its authority in refusing to allow Labor and Industry to form its own subcommittee to study the issue.

The committee also expressed concern that its jurisdiction over workmen's compensation had been superseded by the special subcommittee.

The special panel, to be composed of members of three legislative committees, including Labor and Industry, was created earlier this month by the LRC in the wake of a jurisdictional dispute over workmen's compensation.

Deputy LRC Director Gary Lahr told the committee the LRC has the authority to form any special subcommittee it wants. Lahr said the Labor and Industry Committee could also study workmen's compensation, but added that he thought it would be a duplication of effort.

The committee, however, was upset by a letter from LRC Director Vic Hellard saying that the practical effect of the subcommittee was that "Labor and Industry no longer has jurisdiction over workmen's compensation so long as the special subcommittee is conducting its study."

Hellard assured the committee in the letter that any recommendation of the special subcommittee would be referred to the Labor and Industry panel.

The committee said it felt there were discrepancies in what Hellard said in his letter and what the LRC approved. The group listened to a tape of the Aug. 4 LRC meeting which seemed to concur that it still has jurisdiction over workmen's compensation.

The dispute began when the Banking and Insurance Committee asked for jurisdiction over workmen's compensation, an area handled by the Labor and Industry Committee for years.

NEW KENTUCKY COLONEL: Following the Summer Commencement exercises Aug. 4 at Murray State University, Kentucky Gov. Julian M. Carroll, left, presented a Kentucky Colonel commission to Dr. Jerry Mayes, an associate professor in the Department of Speech and Theatre. The presentation, the governor noted, was made on behalf of his daughter, Patricia, who had been a student of Mayes' and who was among the 501 graduates awarded degrees during the ceremony. Governor Carroll was the principal speaker for the mid-afternoon ceremonies in Lovett Auditorium.

College Tuition Break For Middle Incomeers Seems Stuck

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's plan to provide college tuition aid to middle-income families is stuck in the House Rules Committee with no assurance it will be cleared for floor action before Congress adjourns for the year.

"There just hasn't been any pressure to get the bill out," a Rules Committee aide said.

Rep. William Ford, D-Mich., whose Education and Labor subcommittee produced the bill, wrote the Rules panel on July 21 and again on Wednesday to ask that the measure be sent to the floor, so action can be completed this year.

But the aide said the Rules Committee must deal with a heavy backlog of legislation to extend expiring government programs before it can handle such matters as the tuition bill.

This source, who asked not to be identified, refused to speculate on the chances the bill might die in committee. Only four work weeks remain before Congress is supposed to adjourn for the year on Oct. 7.

The Senate version of the bill, which would extend existing federal tuition grant and loan programs to middle-income students, passed Wednesday by a 68-28 margin.

That vote came less than a day after senators also approved a rival aid plan, which would allow a tax credit of up to $500 per student to help offset college tuition costs.

The House has approved a version of the tax credit, which the administration opposes. The president's aid plan has been held up in the Rules Committee since shortly after it was approved by the Education and Labor Committee in February.

Before any major bill can be considered by the House, it must be cleared by the Rules Committee.

Carter proposed the grant program in an effort to head off passage of the tuition tax credit bill. He contends the tax bill is inequitable because, in contrast to his own program, it would provide benefits to all regardless of need.

The grants and loan bill passed by the Senate would provide federal tuition assistance to an estimated 1.2 million students.

The key part of the plan would make students from typical families in the $25,000-a-year income range eligible for federal tuition grants for the first time. More than 88 percent of the grants now go to students whose family incomes are less than $16,000.

House Panel Cites Califano On Contempt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sponsor of a motion to cite HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. for contempt of Congress says he hopes Califano will find some way to furnish by mid-September subpoenaed documents describing how major drug companies make their products.

The House Commerce investigations subcommittee voted 9-8 Wednesday to recommend that the secretary of health, education and welfare be held in contempt if he did not turn over the documents. The motion was sponsored by Rep. Albert Gore Jr., D-Tenn.

Members said the documents were needed for an investigation of whether major drug companies buy generic or chemically named drugs, put their own brand-name labels on them and then charge steeply higher prices for the drugs.

At a hearing on Tuesday, Califano gave the subcommittee confidential data on the generic drugs, their manufacturers and the brand-name drug company purchasers.

But he said Attorney General Griffin Bell had said Califano could not provide documents showing the precise manufacturing process because they are legally protected trade secrets.

"I'm hopeful the secretary will negotiate more seriously in the next two to three weeks before the full committee is scheduled to vote (on the contempt citation)," Gore said.

"I think he now knows we're very serious about this matter. I predict the full committee will vote the contempt citation as recommended, but I'm optimistic we'll be able to reach a compromise solution between now and that vote," Gore added in an interview.

Califano says he and the Food and Drug Administration "are deeply committed both to promoting the use of less expensive generic drugs and to ending the drug companies' practice of secretly marketing generic drugs produced by other manufacturers as their own, more expensive brand-name products."

Gore said brand-name drug companies justify the higher prices "by saying their factory processes are unique."

"However, we now know that all they do in many instances is contract with the generic drug company factories who make the medicine — and then all they do is put their label on it and mark up the price dramatically," he said.

The brand-name companies contend they have one of their employees in the generic drug company factory, Gore said, but the subcommittee wants to know from Califano "exactly what that person does."

In recent years, the subcommittee, headed by retiring Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., has voted contempt citations against other Cabinet members but none has gone beyond the full Commerce Committee.

Murray State And Henry Co. Schools Join Hands On Grant

Murray State University and the Henry County (Tenn.) public school system have been awarded a federal grant of up to $1.1 million for a five-year Teacher Corps Project designed to meet the learning needs of children from low income families.

Funded by the U. S. Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the program involves a grant award of almost $150,000 for 1978-79, with continued funding each year for four more years.

Dr. Jerome C. Hainsworth, a professor in the Department of Instruction and Learning at Murray State and author of the grant proposal, will serve as the project director. Dr. William O. Price assisted in the grant preparation.

He said experienced teachers will be retained "to enable them to improve the school climate by finding and developing ways to foster improved learning for children from low socioeconomic backgrounds." The program will also provide preservice teacher training.

Teachers in grades one through 12 from four schools — Henry County High, Grove Junior High, Henry Elementary, and Puryear Elementary — and the J. R. Miller Center for exceptional children will be involved in the project.

Hainsworth summarized the thrust of the program as an effort to establish minimal acceptable standards of achievement for students at all levels and then to prepare teachers to devise teaching strategies to bring students up to those standards.

"To accomplish our purposes, it will be necessary for teachers to develop a more complete understanding of the multi-cultural heritage within the Henry County area and of the children they teach," he noted.

Hainsworth said his enthusiasm about the project has been enhanced by his observation of a genuine commitment of the part of the Henry County community to support and to become involved in the program.

Frank Gallimore, superintendent of Henry County schools, expressed his pleasure that the system has been approved to participate with Murray State University in a joint venture with the scope and magnitude of Teacher Corps.

"We feel that the Teacher Corps Project will have a positive impact on the teachers and students alike during the planned five-year period. We are very appreciative of the preparation and planning by Murray State and look forward to the association with its representatives during this period," he added.

Faculty members in the Department of Instruction and Learning at Murray State will work as program development team leaders. Dr. Roger Childress is assigned to Henry County High, Price to Grove Junior High and the Miller Center, and Dr. Willis Johnson to the elementary schools. Gary Schroeder, also a member of that faculty and a grant contributor, will serve as document-evaluator.

Team leaders will direct the work of three-member teams in each school. Working with them will be the principal and a faculty member from each school who has been designated as site coordinator.

Principals are: Darrell Rowlett, Henry County High; Luke Welch, Grove Junior High; Horace Derrington, Henry Elementary; Garry Smith, Puryear Elementary; and Jack Watkins, J. R. Miller Center.

Site coordinators are: Cordella Miller, Henry County High; Gerald Howard, Grove Junior High; and Grace McCain, Henry Elementary.

Hainsworth said the first year will be devoted to planning, the second and third to implementation of planning objectives, and the fourth and fifth to the actual institutionalization of the project.

The Teacher Corps grant is the second awarded to Murray State. The other was for $409,414 to support a two-year program in 1975-77 in a school in Christian County. Hainsworth wrote the grant proposal and directed that project.

Balloonists Complete Trek Across Atlantic

LONDON (AP) — Three Americans from New Mexico floated over South Wales at sunrise today, heading for the English Channel and northern France after completing the first successful crossing of the Atlantic by balloon.

Ben Abruzzo, 48, Maxie Anderson, 44, and Larry Newman, 31, all from Albuquerque, were expected to bring their balloon, the Double Eagle II, down somewhere in northern France early tonight after setting new time and distance records for balloon flight.

"We hope they keep going as long as they can," said the ground flight director, W.C. "Doc" Wiley. "We want them to establish a record no one can break. It's a great achievement to cross the Atlantic, but they are in such good shape that I think they can go on for a long while yet."

The Double Eagle II completed the Atlantic crossing at 10 p.m. Wednesday (5 p.m. EDT), Shannon Airport reported, reaching the southwest coast of Ireland 121 hours and 18 minutes after the 112-foot-high, helium-filled bag took off last Friday night from Presque Isle, Main, near the Canadian border.

It was the 18th attempt to cross the Atlantic by balloon, and the 16th from west to east. The last previous attempt, and the closest to being successful, was made two weeks ago by Britons Donald-Cameron and Christopher Davies, who ditched 117 miles from the French coast.

Seven persons died in previous attempts.

By dawn today, the Double Eagle II had floated across southern Ireland and the St. George's Channel and was over the Pembrokeshire coast of South Wales, moving southeast at 30 knots, Wiley reported from his flight control center in the London Hilton Hotel.

One coast guard report put the balloon at 20,000 feet, another at 10,000, but the heat of the sun on the helium was expected to lift it to 20,000 if it wasn't already there.

"We expect them to cross the Bristol Channel, England and the English Channel about lunchtime Thursday, then the French coast in the Le Havre area and land somewhere in the Paris region at around 8:30 p.m. (3:30 p.m. EDT)," press spokesman Jim Mitchell said

But he said Attorney General Griffin Bell had said Califano could not provide documents showing the precise manufacturing process because they are legally protected trade secrets.

"I'm hopeful the secretary will negotiate more seriously in the next two to three weeks before the full committee is scheduled to vote (on the contempt citation)," Gore said.

"I think he now knows we're very serious about this matter. I predict the full committee will vote the contempt citation as recommended, but I'm optimistic we'll be able to reach a compromise solution between now and that vote," Gore added in an interview.

Califano says he and the Food and Drug Administration "are deeply committed both to promoting the use of less expensive generic drugs and to ending the drug companies' practice of secretly marketing generic drugs produced by other manufacturers as their own, more expensive brand-name products."

Gore said brand-name drug companies justify the higher prices "by saying their factory processes are unique."

"However, we now know that all they do in many instances is contract with generic drug company factories who make the medicine — and then all they do is put their label on it and mark up the price dramatically," he said.

The brand-name companies contend they have one of their employees in the generic drug company factory, Gore said, but the subcommittee wants to know from Califano "exactly what that person does."

In recent years, the subcommittee, headed by retiring Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., has voted contempt citations against other Cabinet members but none has gone beyond the full Commerce Committee.

THE PHANTOM

Your Individual Horoscope

For FRIDAY, AUGUST 18, 1978

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

ARIES

(Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) ♈
Stars auspicious. Be observing, mindful of future needs. Especially favored: business negotiations, manufacturing, travel plans.

TAURUS

(Apr. 21 to May 21) ♉
You may have an unusual opportunity to advance your interests immediately — one which could have an important bearing on the future as well. Accept.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21) ♊
You always enjoy a challenge, and you may face some interesting ones now. Tackle with vigor, but don't undertake ventures you would not usually consider.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23) ♋
Domestic affairs, possibly a personal matter will need some extra attention. Do not, however, neglect daily chores or business needs because of it.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23) ♌
Scattered efforts will confuse, lead you off course. You can win big gains if you buckle down to essentials — and STAY with them.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) ♍
Some unprecedented situations or unusual propositions indicated. Study well, but defer taking action until early next week.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) ♎
Mixed influences. Question and investigate where there is margin for error. Do not accept suggestions blindly.

SCORPIO
(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) ♏
Quick decisions may now be required due to suddenly changing situations. Be ready to think and act — but without anxiety.

SAGITTARIUS
(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) ♐
Seeking an easy solution to a complex problem may only compound the complications. Face up to it, tackle it as you should, and there'll be no sorry aftermath.

CAPRICORN
(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) ♑
A day in which you could be error-prone, so give careful attention to details — especially in domestic matters.

AQUARIUS
(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) ♒
Stress your perceptiveness. A bit of shrewd observation will enable you to note certain new trends, obtain valuable information.

PISCES
(Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) ♓
Look for some unusually pleasant communications from those at a distance; also, new contacts which could prove invaluable in a business way.

YOU BORN TODAY are governed by Leo, the Lion, and so are endowed with great magnetism, strength of character and purpose, enthusiasm and a zest for living. You are a born leader and lend power and influence to all activities, but must learn to wield authority with discretion. Your pride, which is often excessive, tends to make you domineering and this you must conquer if you are to keep the many friends you make along life's road. You are extremely versatile and could succeed in almost any field of your choosing — properly educated, of course. Birthdate of: Meriwether Lewis, explorer; Shelley Winters and Hayley Mills, film stars.

3. Card Of Thanks

THE FAMILY OF Curtis Bouldin would like to thank all of our friends for the kindness shown to us for the loss of our loved one. The visits, flowers, and food. Thanks to the pallbearers, to Rev. Harold Crissom, and to Gallimore Funeral Home. Also, the nurses of Murray-Calloway County Hospital and to Doctor P'Pool. And to everyone that helped in any way.

4. In Memory

SEVEN YEARS ago Aug. 16, 1971 on a Monday morning at 9:15 the death angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Edd Travis and claimed little Ora Belle Travis and called her home to be with her Heavenly Father who loved her too. Oh how lonely the years have been since you left us and how we have all missed you, home is not the same without your smile. Your kindness and love you had for us all, but one day we all will meet again in a better home and will be happy. We all loved you so dearly but God loved you best. Sadly missed and loved by the Family of L. A. Travis.

"FREEWAY SUNDAY" SCENE — Sharon Whitehead and Clifford Lee Johnson, III, perform in "Freeway Sunday," a play by Rebecca Jernigan, which can be seen free-of-charge on Sunday, August 20, at 8:00 p.m., in the University Theatre on the Murray State Campus. "Freeway Sunday" is sponsored by the Kentucky Humanities Council and is being presented in Murray in cooperation with the MSU Speech & Theater Department and the Murray-Calloway County Community Theatre.

Plays To Be Presented At University Theatre

On Sunday, August 20, at 8 p.m., a program of two plays, "Freeway Sunday" and "Smoke In The Wind," will be presented free of charge at the University Theatre in the Price Doyle Fine Arts Building on the MSU campus.

The shows, produced by the Blue Troupe of Somerset Community College, are on a tour of the state sponsored by the Kentucky Humanities Council. The Murray performance is being sponsored by the Murray-Calloway County Community Theatre, in conjunction with their second annual membership drive, and the MSU Department of Speech & Theater.

"Freeway Sunday," written and directed by Rebecca Jernigan, is a one-act play that explores the emotions, memories, and details of a man and a woman following their divorce. "Smoke In The Wind," under the direction of Clifford Lee Johnson, III, Executive Director of the Blue Troupe, consists of seven songs which both precede and set the stage for "Freeway Sunday." The performers in both works are Sharon Whitehead and Clifford Lee Johnson, III.

A forum consisting of actors, directors, writers, professors, and area citizens will discuss some of the questions raised by the play. The program will last approximately an hour and a half. "Smoke In The Wind" will begin at 8 p.m., on August 20 at the University Theatre, to be followed by "Freeway Sunday." The public is invited to attend, and no admission will be charged.

Freeman Nomination Going To Congress

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — President Carter's formal nomination of Chicago railroad executive Richard Freeman to the Tennessee Valley Authority's board of directors should go to Congress this week, TVA Chairman S. David Freeman said today.

"The rumors that I get out of Washington are that his name will be officially transmitted to the Senate this week," the chairman said at today's executive meeting. The Freemans are not related.

Carter told TVA-area senators in June that he planned to nominate Richard Freeman, a vice president of the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad and former TVA attorney, to one of two vacancies on the three-seat board. The chairman has been the only board member since the retirement of former chairman Aubrey Wagner on May 18 and the resignation of William Jenkins on May 5.

Chairman Freeman also established a new position — executive assistant — on his office staff and named David G. Powell, a TVA lawyer, to the $43,000-a-year

Thousands File Past Graceland Gates On Final Day Of Tribute To Presley

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Streaming past the trinket traders, thousands trod a trail of tears to worship their idol, "The King" of rock 'n' roll. The wailful whine of Graceland's gates was the day's final tribute to Elvis Presley.

The gates of Graceland Mansion swung open at 8:25 a.m. Wednesday. Less than 10 hours later, 9,112 faithful followers had wound their way up the quarter-mile driveway to the Meditation Garden, where Presley and his mother are buried side-by-side.

More than 100 multi-colored wreaths snaked their way across the lawn of the 13-acre estate. The garlands — including a Union Jack, an American flag and the trademark of the RCA Victor dog, its ear cocked toward a speaker, stood before the grey stone, green-shuttered, two story home.

Presley recorded under the RCA label from 1956 until his death a year ago Wednesday at the age of 42.

Dressed in a black silk tuxedo shirt and black slacks with his hair combed back in the style of the 1950s, Jean Kamper of Rotterdam, the Netherlands, said he travelled to Memphis solely for the Aug. 16 anniversary. He wound up spending four hours in the glare of the summer sun before getting through the gates.

The wait, he said, he would have traded for nothing. "There's no entertainer that can do what he could," he said. "He sings a song and it goes all through yourself. He can make some sort of contact between himself and his audience that not even Frank Sinatra can do. He is the best, that's why they call him the King."

Before fans poured through the gates, Presley's last travelling road show took a gold-glittered, five-foot-tall "Number One" smothered with blue and yellow chrysanthemums to the singer's grave. It is signed by "The King's Men."

"The three individual hearts stand for us," said Al Strada, Presley's former wardrobe manager who now works in security at the mansion. "Dick Grob, Dean Nichopoulos, Elvis' private physician's son, and myself were the last three people on the payroll that were on the road with Elvis — the King's men." A six-foot-tall Styrofoam angel covered with white chrysanthemums, its hands and wings painted gold, hung over Presley's grave. It was a tribute from a Canadian fan.

Floral arrangements of broken hearts, guitars, crowns and crosses, some emblazoned with the letters TCB — Taking Care of Business — Presley's motto, lined the yard around the swimming pool by the garden.

A 6-by-4-foot floral picture of a hound dog with a guitar hanging from its collar was propped up further down the lawn.

On their way out, some visitors, many sporting Elvis T-shirts, stopped to have a snapshot taken with Vester Presley, Elvis' uncle and a gatekeeper, who, in turn, doled out postagepaid order forms for his new book.

Banana Festival Has Problems Getting Band

FULTON, Ky. (AP) — For 13 of its 16 years, the International Banana Festival has had a native marimba band from Guatemala to enliven the festivities.

The government of Guatemala has offered its swinging Army marimba bands as a goodwill gesture to the banana festival. And the city of Fulton has paid for the bands' transportation costs and has provided meals and lodging.

It just wasn't easy this year.

Elaine Forrester, the festival president, called Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky., in May, asking him to help clear the way for the Guatemalan Army Marimba Band to enter the country.

Ford's staff checked with the U.S. Embassy in Guatemala City and was told there would be no problems.

That all changed last Friday when Ford's office received a frantic call from Fulton.

The U.S. Embassy was refusing to issue visas to the marimba band, and the office was closing at 4 p.m. for the weekend, festival officials said.

Ford's staff, headed by staff assistant Jane Mathias, went into action, and a strongly worded cable went out to Ambassador David Boster, asking, "What happened? Time is of the essence."

Embassy officials found the marimba band sitting in the wrong part of the embassy, their visas were processed and they were put on a flight to New Orleans.

with previous campaigns. "Those who have been active before are worn out," McBrayer said. "And in Kentucky politics a person is just good for one campaign and one administration, particularly on the policy level."

"And I've just got to have people that are committed to me first. Sonny is loyal to Julian first."

McBrayer said that he hadn't talked to Carroll about the remarks but said he will "as soon as I cool down."

"Frankly, I'm a little too mad to talk," Gary Auxier, Carroll's deputy press secretary, said Wednesday that Carroll had not mentioned any leadership role for Hunt and Curlin in McBrayer's campaign, but rather had referred to their individual support for McBrayer.

"Perhaps Terry, and a lot of other people have interpreted (the remarks) to mean a lot more than was said," Auxier said. McBrayer reached an "unfortunate conclusion," Auxier said, "if he interpreted the remarks to mean that Carroll was referring to an active, leadership role for Hunt and Curlin in McBrayer's campaign."
